FORGIBLE FARM REGULATION HIT BY SECRETARY

ity of administering it and is not convinced as to its permanency.

While the instrument of the benefit payment exists to help the government assist the farmers in organizing," Wallace said, "it seems important that the producers should organize themselves, now, so that they may be able better to grapple with their problems in the future when the time comes that the government may not be able to afford immediate help, and when the producers will be left more to their own organization and own devices."

Cooperative endeavor has gone far, but it "still has far to go," he continued.

Addressed Dairyman Secretary Wallace addressed a meeting of dairymen to whom the A.A.A. plan for control of milk has been submitted. He urged the program's acceptance but emphasized that the industry was expected to offer criticism and that counter-suggestions were invited.

The plan "certainly does not pretend to offer any miraculous return of prosperity to the dairy farmer," Wallace said.

"The $150,000,000 proposed benefits are after all a moderate offering to an industry whose annual income fell $860,000,000 from 1929 to 1932.

"But even so, the plan has encountered resistance, and I do not know that I assent to the proposition that it is incumbent upon the dairy farmers to forego moderate control over their production for the temporary benefit of the rest of society while industrial elements in that society maintain firm control over production and do curtail production of necessities in order to maintain industrial prices."

Curtails Output

"The argument against the evils of curtailed output might much better be made against an industrial policy which has permitted such curtailment of industrial production, for the sake of maintaining prices and profits, as to throw 12,000,000 people out of work and thus undermine our whole agricultural structure."

Wallace pointed out that the period of high production in the dairy industry "is just ahead" and that the proposed control program was intended to prevent "some hard times" during the next three or four years.

"The plan offered does not propose any adjustments in production which cannot be made entirely within the limits of sound dairy farming," he said, asserting that the proposed average reduction of 10 per cent below output during the last two years "would affect the supply of manufactured dairy products and not that of fluid milk sold in bottles to city consumers."

Wallace charged that many milk distributors recently had repaid profits disproportionate with returns to dairy farmers, but said he was "mistrustful of claims that a quick miracle of distributing salaries and profits could solve the problem."

WRECK CLAIMS LIFE OF MAN

several musical features: a trumpet solo by Leland Auer, director of the Santa Ana band; a male quartet selection, and a number by the young people's chorus.

The morning service was marked by baptism of children and reception of new members. Vesper service being held in the evening. The pastor's subject was "The Certainty of Immortality."

The vested choir of 20 voices and several numbers of the evening service, which was shared by a vocal trio and instrumental artists.

The Rev. Edwin O. Colbeck gave the message to the sunrise service of the First Baptist church, at the Heights, where music also had a large place on the program, directed by Miss Laura Joiner.

The Santa Ana Commandery, Knights Templar, were special guests at the morning service, attended by nearly 700. "The Easter Urge" was the subject of the Rev. Harry Evan Owings' sermon. Numbers by the choir and Mrs. Mary Steffensen, soloist, were rendered.

Evening Program

Mrs. Charles G. Nalle, music director, and Verne S. Harrison, organist, arranged a musical program in the evening, centering about the cantata, "Easter Angels."

Lemon Heights was the setting for the sunrise worship of the First M. E. church, a group of hymns being followed by the Easter message from T. P. Douglas.

"The Well Traveled Thoroughfare" was the subject of the Rev. George Warner, pastor, at the morning service, which included baptism of children and reception of new members. Special music was presented by the choir. An Easter story by Mrs. Alta Rhinard and Mrs. Ima Hicks, featured the evening service, with a reading by Helen Crowther and special music.

St. John's Lutheran church, of Orange, held a dawn service in the church, the Rev. Kenneth Ahl, vicar, in charge. The choir and children's chorus furnished music. Similar services were held in Lutheran church at Immanuel, an Easter choir procession being an attractive feature, as the first rays of the sun slanted in a large window of the auditorium.

The Rev. F. G. Huling presided over Easter services of the Bible church at Buena Park. Alamitos Friends church conducted a sunrise service, followed by a musical program and pageant.

Other churches of Santa Ana reported large attendances at their Easter services.

S. A. MAY GET LABOR OFFICE ESTABLISHMENT

Declaring that the government plans to establish the United States Reemployment office here on a permanent basis if there is a demand and need for it, R. C. Stilwell, San Francisco, of the United States Employment service, veteran's placement representative in charge of California, while in Santa Ana Saturday, urged residents of this vicinity to support the office.

Stilwell explained that his interest in the work is in seeing that the law is enforced which makes it necessary to give married veterans preference on public works. He said there are from 1200 to 1500 unemployed veterans in the county and about 10,000 unemployed altogether.

Stilwell, who used to live in Santa Ana and whose mother still lives here, declared that he has heard considerable criticism of the fact that transferring persons on relief rolls to public works projects. People do not have to be destitute and on relief rolls before being given government work, he said.

He lauded the work Charles Fallert, in charge of the government employment office, has been doing here, pointing out that Fallert found jobs for 45 persons last week, some of which might have gone to persons outside the county if it had not been for his efforts.

Stilwell's visit to Santa Ana was part of his tour of the state, checking employment figures and seeing that the law is properly enforced.

skull and other injuries.

Marcher was engaged in the ice cream business in Santa Ana and Orange and had been a Santa Ana resident for many years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura V. Marcher, and one daughter, Miss Grace Marcher.

Funeral services will be held by Santa Ana I. O. O. F. lodge, No. 236, from the Winkler home tomorrow at 2 p. m. Private cremation will follow.

Wendell O. White, 17, pre-medical student at U. C. L. A., was instantly killed in an automobile accident at the end of the bridge to Balboa Island, near the Coast highway, in Newport Beach, at 2 a. m. Sunday. He was a week-end guest in the home of his cousin, Russell White of Huntington Beach, a student at Santa Ana Junior college, and driver of the wrecked car.

ACTIVITIES OF CWA ENDED; NEW RELIEF STARTS

population, work divisions begin a systematic apportionment of needy unemployed to six types of work of public character. It was expected that 30 per cent would work on improvements to public property; 15 per cent on housing; 15 per cent on production and distribution of goods needed by the unemployed; seven per cent on public welfare, health and recreation service, and 10 per cent on emergency activities in public education, the arts, and research.

Minimum Wages

Wages will be the prevailing rate for the occupation and the locality but not less than 30 cents an hour.

President Roosevelt's statement of policy, which assured adequate provision in the future for all destitute families, provides that relief funds be spent in rural areas in a "manner and to an extent that will enable them to achieve self support." Initially, it is expected that a majority of work offered to needy farmers will involve highway construction and repair.

The "standard relief" program, which eventually will embody physical transplantation of families stranded in single-industry communities, is still in the initial stages of development.

The government's share of expenditures under the new policy is expected to be between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 a week, in contrast to an average of $50,000,000 weekly under CWA and a peak of $70,000,000.

STORES REPORT SERIOUS DRINK PROBLEMS TOLD IS IMPROVING TO EDUCATORS

Easter business in Santa Ana showed a gain of about 60 per cent over the same period last year, according to results of a survey by the Santa Ana Merchants' association made known today.

Merchants generally reported a strengthening of the tone in business conditions, and expressed considerable satisfaction in the definite increase recorded during the Easter season.

The last two weeks in March were exceptionally good, the report said, and staking of Greater Santa Ana Days was believed to have aided considerably in stimulating business, according to Claude J. McDowell, president of the Merchants' association.

Generally, the month of March was far ahead of last year, and the outlook for April is most encouraging, McDowell declared. Women's shops, featuring dresses, millinery, shoes and other apparel, did a business in great excess of last year, according to Bruno Almquist, a director of the association.

The merchandising committee of the association plans a meeting for tomorrow when discussion of activities for April and May will be staged. Extensive plans are being made by merchant committees for the next six months.

The "Buy in Santa Ana" movement, launched more than a year ago by the association, will be given additional publicity, and residents of Santa Ana will be asked to continue cooperating with local merchants to aid in the growth and prosperity of Santa Ana and to insure the city's being the shopping center of Orange county, it was stated.

PIONEER OF H. B. CALLED BY DEATH

D. O. Stewart, 65, pioneer resident of Huntington Beach, passed away in New Mexico today. Funeral services will be held at the Dixon chapel in the beach city Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with the Rev. James Hurst officiating.

Mr. Stewart had been a resident of Huntington Beach for over 42 years, engaging in farming first and later banking.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. May Stewart; three daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Compton, Mrs. Maud Clemons and Mrs. Rena Rivers, of Huntington Beach; one brother, Jess Stewart, of Santa Ana, and five grandchildren.

Mr. Stewart went to New Mexico a short time ago for his health.

Santa Ana Lodge No. 236, I. O. O. F. and Laurel Encampment No. 81, I. O. O. F. will conduct funeral services for our late Brother and Patriarch, Charles H. Marcher, at 2 p. m. Tuesday, at Winbiger's Funeral Home.

interferes with the proper operation of any of the organs of the body," she declared in classifying the various brands of alcohol as poison.

For nearly a hundred years studies have been carried on to determine the exact effects of alcoholic beverages upon the human organism, the speaker remarked, and from these scientific investigations have come four major charges against alcohol as a beverage, set forth as follows: Alcohol is a narcotic, a deterrent of every normal function, a habit forming drug, a protoplasmic poison, adversely affecting the off-spring of the drinker.

Educational Campaign

Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, president of the Orange County W. C. T. U., presided over the meeting, and the speaker was introduced by L. L. Beaman, member of the Santa Ana Junior college faculty.

In presenting the speaker to the audience, Beaman stressed the fact that the temperance forces of the country have launched an educational campaign along scientific lines, thus hoping that the people will realize themselves the injurious effects of alcohol.

In approaching her subject, Miss Palmer made it clear that her lecture had nothing to do with any organized effort to reduce or eliminate traffic in alcoholic beverages or to seek legislation against the same, but was purely in character and designed to aid teachers in presenting the question to their pupils.

The speaker also went on to explain that temperance, based on scientific research, will be introduced to educational institutions under the name of "alcohol education" with two distinct objectives—character building and good health.

Other teaching objectives, of this educational campaign, it was explained, are to insure community health, welfare and progress; to present practical information from scientific sources on the subject of alcoholic beverages; to impress young people and children with the seriousness of the drinking problem so that they will, intelligently and on their own accord, avoid alcoholic drinks of all kinds.

In closing Miss Palmer, quoting her own statements to a news reporter, interviewing her several years ago, denied the charge that prohibition had increased drinking among women and students.

J. S. KRUEGER, PIONEER OF COUNTY, DIES

A pioneer resident of Orange, Jacob A. Krueger, 82, prominent citrus grower and rancher, died yesterday morning at his ranch home on East La Veta avenue, Orange, following a brief illness. He was taken ill Friday morning. Death came as a result of a stroke.

He had lived in Orange for 47 years and was one of the first members of St. John's Lutheran church of that city. He was born in Buxcovit, West Prussia, Germany but came to the United States 59 years ago when he settled in Fort Dodge, Iowa. After a few years he then moved to Nebraska, moving in 1886 to Orange, where he has made his home since.

He was the father of Mrs. Charles O. Tucker and William K. Krueger, of Orange, and a brother of Mrs. C. W. Ranney, of Santa Ana, Ray Krueger sr., of Orange, and Mrs. Bertha Denkart, of Iowa.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from St. John's Lutheran church at Orange, with the Rev. A. C. Bode, minister of the church, officiating.

Interment will be made in Santa Ana cemetery, with the Smith and Tutthill Funeral home, of Santa Ana, in charge.

OFFICIALS TO HEAR TALKS ON GAS TAX PLANS

A group of Orange county officials and citizens interested in the gasoline tax situation will attend a meeting in the Rosslyn hotel, Los Angeles, tonight, to hear Earl Leo

Kelly, state director of public works speak on the subject.

The meeting primarily was called for state legislators in Southern California to discuss gasoline tax revenue distribution and proposed legislation.

Assemblyman Edward T. "Ted" Craig, of Brea, author of a measure defeated in the last legislature which would have given cities a half-cent return on each gallon tax instead of a quarter-cent, has invited J. L. McBride, Santa Ana city engineer and member of the gasoline tax committee of the League of California municipalities, Mayor L. A. Hogue, of Brea, Leo Sheridan, Anaheim councilman, and Mayor W. L. Hale of Fullerton to attend the meeting with him.

Assemblyman James B. Utt will take Nat H. Neff, county superintendent of roads, and others with him to the meeting.

Ann Knights of Pythias lodge tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Tustin K. of P. hall, it was announced by Edward C. Coehems, chancellor. The Tustin degree team will confer the rank. Representatives of various Southland lodges are expected to be present.

BOOK SIX FOR INTOXICATION: TWO AUTOISTS

Six men were booked at the county jail over the week end for liquor violations, including two for drunken driving and four on drunkenness charges.

Robert H. Asbell, 28, Puente, was arrested by California Highway Patrolman George Stinson at the Archery at noon Sunday for drunken driving and brought to the county jail by Deputy Sheriffs C. W. Riggie and L. H. Nicholson. Lawrence Rivera, 38, Atwood, was arrested for drunken driving by California Highway Patrolman Vernon Barnhill and Dan Adams and booked at the county jail at 2:15 p. m. Saturday, following an auto accident in Santa Ana canyon.

William Robey, 71, La Veta street, Orange, was booked at the county jail Saturday night by Officers A. L. Steward, J. W. Foster and Roy Hartley after being arrested at Fourth and French streets for drunkenness.

Raymond C. Moore, 32, Long Beach, was arrested by Officers R. Elliott and W. E. B. Sherwood and booked at the county jail for petty theft and intoxication at 4:35 a. m. Sunday. Moore was arrested after it was charged that he reached over the counter at the Palace cafe and stole a gallon jug of wine, which was later found in his car by officers, according to reports. Moore was released without bail by Judge J. G. Mitchell pending his hearing in police court.

Ben Cervera, 21, Placentia, was arrested at Fifth and Broadway at 10:30 p. m. Saturday by Officer W. A. Swaine and booked at the jail for drunkenness by Officers P. N. Cosad and C. V. Adams.

Louis Gomez, 28, West Seventeenth street, was booked at the county jail for intoxication at 8:13 o'clock last night after Supervisor John Mitchell of Garden Grove notified the sheriff's office that a man was drunk or sleeping in a car parked near his home. Deputy Sheriffs L. H. Nicholson and C. W. Riggie answered the call and arrested Gomez.

FISHERMAN

Capt. Sid Boerster, below, who was in charge of Zane Gray's most successful fishing cruise, will be featured in Montgomery Ward company's Fishing Fair to be staged at the local store at Fourth and Main streets Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

AUTHORITY ON PREVENTION OF WAR TO SPEAK

Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., will be the featured speaker at the regular weekly meeting of Santa Ana Rotary club tomorrow noon in James' cafe. It was announced today by R. C. Smedley, secretary.

The speaker is nationally known as one of the leaders of peace, is a well known authority on international relations, is a writer of note, and a speaker of exceptional power.

After finishing his theological studies at Andover Seminary and in Berlin, Marburg, Heidelberg and Oxford, he took a pastorate at Magnolia, Massachusetts. Following this he was chaplain of the faculty at Phillips Exeter academy.

In 1918 he took a year's leave of absence to work in France with the Friends' Reconstruction Unit, sailing on July 4. His first job in France was to tear-paper an American Red Cross building while General Pershing was being received there, where wounded soldiers were domiciled.

After the war ended, he helped erect portable houses in the devastated area for French peasants to be returned to cultivate the soil. Since 1921 he has been executive secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, making frequent trips to Europe visiting various peace centers and giving several weeks to the current activities in Geneva, particularly visiting the sessions of the League of Nations to meet with peace leaders of various countries.

FISHING FAIR TO BE HELD AT WARD'S STORE

For the benefit of sportsmen and sportswomen who appreciate what a good fishing rod means, E. L. Lucas, manager of Montgomery Ward company, Santa Ana store, has arranged for Bohanan and McCoy, manufacturers of championship fishing poles, to send a rod-making machine and expert operator to Santa Ana for the fishing fair, scheduled to be held in the store Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Special lectures and demonstrations will be given daily during the exposition, to which the public is cordially invited. Lucas said. The demonstration on how rods are made will take place in the store window, and will show the complete manufacturing process from beginning to end.

Among the notables who will personally aid in the direction of the fair, is Captain Sid Boerster, cruise director of Zane Gray's most successful fishing tour. It was on this trip that the world's record fish of more than 1000 pounds was landed on the deck.

Other attractions of the fair will be a story contest for the biggest and best fish yarn of about 300 words which should be mailed to the store not later than Saturday, April 7.

A fly casting contest is planned to be held under the supervision of the world's champion fly caster.

REPORT THREE BURGLARIES IN LAST TWO DAYS

Three burglaries were reported to police over the week-end, with two of the cases having a total loss of $150, principally in jewelry.

J. A. King, 223 South Bristol street, told police that his house was entered Saturday afternoon after a screen had been cut and unhooked and the glass knocked out of the window. After stealing a 32-20 revolver, 32nd degree Masonic ring, 14th degree Masonic ring and a Masonic ring set with a chip diamond, the thief left the house by the back door. The total loss was estimated at $100 by King.

Jewelry valued at $50 was taken from the home of J. O. Knox, 1019 Fairview street, on the night of March 18, police were notified yesterday. Included in the loot were two watches, two baby lockets, two baby bracelets, gold ring, signet ring, diamond lavallier, ruby lavallier, cameo brooch and two stickpins.

A large wood saw was stolen from the workshop of O. H. Johnson, 414 Fruit street, from March 18 and March 24, it was reported to police. A search of records revealed that the saw had been sold to the McGrath second-hand store, 710 East Fourth street.

GRADING IDYLLWILD ROAD
The mountain road which extends from Banning to Idyllwild, Riverside county, is being graded, reports the National Automobile club.

GEORGE HART ON REGISTER STAFF

George E. Hart, one of the best known newspapermen in Orange county, today became a member of the news staff of The Register.

Hart formerly was an employee of The Register but served his connections in 1927 to enter the free lance field. For the last seven years he has been county seat reporter for several Orange county papers and in addition has been correspondent for Long Beach and Los Angeles newspapers.

Hart will "cover" the courthouse beat for The Register, a beat with which he is most familiar. For more than 10 years Hart has "made" the courthouse daily and county officers or lesser office employees number him among their list of friends.

He is a brother of William Hart, co-publisher of the Orange Daily News.

1250 PERSONS PAY PROPERTY TAX IN MARCH

More than twice as many personal property tax receipts were issued during March this year than in the same month in 1932 according to County Assessor James Sleeper today. He said that last month there was a total of 1250 receipts issued representing a total payment of $9317.61. In March 1932 there were 500 receipts issued for payment of personal property tax which represented a total of $7588.40 paid into the county treasury.

The increase in the number of payments resulted in additional cash received Sleeper said in spite of the fact that the personal property rate was approximately 50 per cent lower than the rate for last year.

The largest March payment of personal property tax, before this year, was in March 1929 when there were 850 receipts issued.

Sleeper said that the reason for the increase in receipts issued and money received was due to the new law that became operative this year which requires that automobile registration cards must be cleared by the assessor before a new license plate will be issued by the state or before registration of the vehicle can be transferred.

Automobile owners who secured their 1934 license plates before the new law became operative, Sleeper said did not have to clear their registration cards this year but must do so before they can obtain a license for 1935. If this clearance is not secured prior to July 1, the tax will have to be paid plus a 10 per cent delinquency penalty.

Sleeper said that while the new law has increased the county's revenue it also has almost doubled work in his office.

by Bill Braucher

THE WAY OF ALL FLESH
A little prosperity is a bad thing. It softens us up, and then ease up. Luxuries poison our souls. For example, take the case of John Leonard ("Pepper") Martin.

Martin used to be common folk. He would ride the rods from his home at Oklahoma City to the camp of the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton. The Cardinals would try him out and send him to Houston, Fort Smith, Syracuse or Rochester.

Pepper struggled on. Every spring he negotiated passage on a freight train and turned up at the Cardinals' camp, undrunk. His eyes were fixed on the stars.

AT LAST!
Finally, three years ago, the Cardinals decided to keep him. He played all year in the outfield, and in the world series that year became one of the greatest ball players a world series ever knew.

He won games in that series almost single-handed. He hit .500 and stole five bases. They called him "The Wild Horse of the Ozone."

His name was spread for more than a week on every front page in the United States. Columns were written about his head-first slide, his long hits, his spectacular catches in center field.

For a time Pepper seemed not to know about. Might be Danny MacFadden, who ran into a bad season last year, but who may find himself this year. Say, he was great up at Boston, wasn't he?

Danny certainly had been great up at Boston. And if he came through, the Yankees looked pretty well set, didn't they, Joe?

"You can say for me that if MacFadden is the pitcher he was for the Red Sox we'll breeze in without a deep breath. You know we've got the power!"

As he spoke, a fat person who had just made his sixth home run in training camp, an unprecedented performance even for him, waddled up to the bench.

Power? You said it—even at 40!

(This is another of a series of articles from the big league training camps, analyzing chances of the various teams in the coming pennant race.)

TENNIS
Rallying after a shaky second set, Lewis Wetherell won the third and deciding set, and the Citrus Belt league tennis championship from "Hooks" Chilson of Anaheim, on the Frances Willard courts here Sunday.

The scores were 6-2, 6-8, 6-2. The Santa Ana star seemed to have the match under control through the first set but lapsed into numerous backhand errors in the second, and Chilson took advantage of the temporary lull to break through and prolong the match. Wetherell steadied after a brief intermission, and won about as he pleased.

Miss Katherine Wood of Fullerton defeated Miss Peggy Hay of Pomona, 6-1, 6-3, for a surprising easy win in the final round of the women's division.

Unexpectedly defeated in the semi-finals by Lawrence Nelson of Los Angeles high school, Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana failed to add the Dudley Cup to his list of trophies.

1934 tennis accomplishments at Santa Monica last Saturday. Wetherell beat Nelson, 6-0, 6-1, in the Bel-Air matches early last week, but Nelson did a complete about-face in the interscholastic tournament. After beating Santa Ana's hope 6-4, 6-4, Nelson took Bobby Riggs of Franklin high school in the finals, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 2.—(UP)—The blinding speed of Ellsworth Vines enabled the California star to defeat Bill Tilden 8-10, 6-3, 11-9, in a professional tennis match last night before a crowd of 4000.

Keith Gledhill turned back Vincent Richards 6-8, 6-2, 6-4 in the other singles contests while Gledhill and Vines downed Tilden and Richards in doubles, 6-2, 9-7.

BRONCHO BUSY ON MAT
Broncho Nagurski, Chicago Bears' fullback, has been in such demand as a wrestling attraction in the middlewest that he is unable to fill all his cards. He wrestled five times during one recent week.

YANKS' YOUNGSTERS MAY WIN FOR THEM

If the Yankees are to win the 1934 American league pennant, four young pitchers probably will have a lot to say about it. They are Johnny Allen, left, star of the pitching staff; Fred Walker, right, hard-hitting outfielder who may see a lot of action if Ruth flops; "Red" Rolfe, lower left, bidding for the shortstop job in his first year up from Newark, and Don Heffner, Baltimore rookie who may team up with "Red" at second base.

RIVERSIDE GO GOOD FOR DONS IN DUAL MEET

Clair Preininger, pole vaulter, today held the distinction of being the only member of Coach Reese Greene's 1934 squad to hold an all-time track record at Santa Ana junior college. Clearing 11 feet, 8 inches and barely missing 12 feet on another occasion, he replaced Doyle Gilbert's 1933 mark of 11.7 in an Eastern conference dual meet which the Dons lost to Riverside's defending champions, 74 1/2 to 56 1/2, at Poly field Saturday.

Clean sweeps in the discus and broad jumps brought Riverside its well-earned victory, and tied the league standings with two wins and a loss. Headed for its first championship, Fullerton remained in the lead with a forfeit from Pomona for its third consecutive victory.

Wilson Double Victor
Perhaps the most surprising performance of the Don-Bengal engagement was Lucien Wilson's double victory in the hurdles. He was not extended in either race, with times of 15.8 and 25 seconds in the highs and lows. Kenny Vandruft, Wilson's teammate, looked good for a certain second in the highs, but Riverside's Stevenson edged him out with a fast sprint. Riverside's Fred Montpelier, who was named All-American prep hurdler in 1932 at San Diego, finished three yards behind Wilson in the lows.

Santa Ana earned 18 out of 27 points in the distances, Rudy Holman easily winning the mile in 4:45.9; and Ray Craft the 880 in 2:07.6. "Chuck" Malbon of the Dons finished a good second in the mile, and third in the 880. Hilman and Al Clark followed Don Stevenson in defending champ, to the tape in the two-mile for four points.

Compensating for the temporary loss of Ray Furuta, who was attending his sister's funeral, Vandruft of the Dons leaped 5:11 to tie Bill Peterson of Riverside in the high jump.

Pollock Wins Three Events
Alex Clark was an easy winner in the javelin at 162 feet, 3 1/2 inches. Ellwood Lindley, who picked up a second in the shot and a third in the high jump, also earned a second in the spear event.

"Mush" Pollock, Riverside's sensational sprinter, won his usual high-point honors with first in the 100, 220 and broad jump. Bill Hoagland, 440 yard runner, took first in the 440 and discus, and a third in the shot.

Absence of Furuta, Frank Kroenke and Wilbur Anderson handicapped the Dons in the weight events, but Santa Ana's loss was partially offset by the absence of Eldrid Bliss, Riverside's distance ace.

Hollywood Stands Pat
Hollywood's popularity lay in its retention of practically the same lineup which gave Los Angeles a hammer-throw victory last year. To that ray Manager Vitt added fence-busting Smead Lolley and canny Jack Quinn, major league spitball pitcher.

Los Angeles, however, can't be counted out. Although they lost Dick Ward and "Buck" Newsom, who won more than 40 games between them in the pennant-winning drive, the Angels have had material aid from the parent club, the Chicago Cubs, and from other sources to produce a strong lineup.

Dark horses of this year's get-away are the Mission Reds, who came under the direction of Charley "Chubby" Street during the off-season. Street is one of baseball's smartest pilots. He has surrounded himself with an array of veterans and he has Oscar Eckhardt, four times league batting champion.

'New Deal' At Seattle
Seattle, too, appeared due for an improvement, following a "new deal" in club affairs.

Portland and Sacramento also went through considerable off-season changing. Oakland appeared to be a team that needed just one or two more players to become a powerful outfit.

For the opening brushes tomorrow the following schedule is presented: Seattle at San Francisco; San Francisco Missions at Sacramento; Hollywood at Oakland; and Portland at Los Angeles.

Sam Gibson drew the opening game assignment for the Seals, opposing Bill Radonits of Seattle. Hollis Thurston was scheduled to lead off for the Missions against Lou Koupal of Sacramento; Hollywood was to start Frank Shellenback against Oakland's Willie Ludolph. Portland was expected to send Rudy Kallio against Fay Thomas at Los Angeles.

FORM WILL TELL
Sumiyoshi, javelin champion of Japan, has heaved the spear 226 feet, although he weighs only 140 pounds and stands only 5 feet 4 inches. He developed his form by studying the art of throwing the javelin in Finland.

SEALS, SHEIKS THREAT TO L. A. PENNANT HOPES

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—First in all organized baseball to start, the eight clubs of the Pacific Coast league awaited the magic cry of "Play Ball" to send them off tomorrow on a long campaign to produce a new champion in the nation's fastest minor league.

The San Francisco Seals and the Hollywood Stars were the pre-season favorites to capture the title now held by Los Angeles.

The Seals, on paper, bid fair to recapture their former glory after a dismal 1933 season which found them finishing in sixth place. Important changes in the middle of the infield, the pitching staff and the catching department made Manager Jimmy Caveney's entry a formidable pennant contender.

R. W. Lemcke (def. Fred Robertson 1 up 22nd hole) vs. Roger Bunce (def. H. S. Holmes 3 and 2).

Geo. Miller (def. Mel Salveson 2 and 1) vs. L. S. Townsend (def. Frank Angell 2 and 1).

Frank Angell (def. Van Pomeroy 2 and 1) vs. Don Kennedy (def. Ed Wallace 2 and 1).

First Flight
Les McDonald (def. Barney Snee 2 and 1) vs. C. C. Gibbs (def. Earl Robbins 2 up).

F. W. Norton (def. Jim Musick 3 and 2) vs. Larry Jaffe (def. Chas. Wallaston 2 and 1).

Herb Kaufman (def. Reg. Taylor 1 up) vs. A. M. Worthington (def. Geo. Walker 2 and 1).

Geo. Walker (def. John Lutz 3 and 2) vs. Don Harwood (def. Geo. Spielman 3 and 2).

Pairings for the Defeated
Eight of both flights were announced by Willowick officials as follows:

Championship flight—H. S. Holmes vs. Sid Harris; Fred Robertson, bye; Mel Salveson, bye; Van Pomeroy vs. Ed Wallace. First flight—Barney Snee vs. Earl Robbins; Jim Musick vs. Charles Wallaston; Reg Taylor vs. Gerald Edwards; John Lutz vs. George Spielman.

PASADENA—The Chicago White Sox pulled stakes with the Pittsburgh Pirates today and entrained for the east, bringing to an end the coast training season for both clubs. The Pirates and Sox will play a string of exhibition battles enroute east, the first game this afternoon at San Bernardino.

Before leaving here, the Sox released Paul Gregory, rookie pitcher, to Sacramento of the Coast league and completed arrangements to send Milton Beck, outfielder, to the same club later.

LOS ANGELES—The Chicago Cubs started their tour homeward today after completing their local spring stay with a defeat. Earl Grant's home run gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 10-inning victory over the Cubs yesterday, enabling the Cubs to gain an even break in their 8-game series.

"Arky" Vaughan and Lloyd Waner also hit for the circuit for the Pirates. Don Canill, Chicago first baseman, clouted a homer also.

TAMPA, Fla.—Two more players have been lopped off the Cincinnati Reds' squad. Outfielder Harry Rice and Catcher Frank Crouch were released outright last night to Toronto of the International league in exchange for the right to claim a player off that club next fall. Both will join Toronto at once.

SARASOTA, Fla.—The Boston Red Sox were breaking camp here today, ready for the meandering trek northward where they meet Baltimore Thursday. They wound up their stay in camp yesterday by walloping the Phillies, 6 to 1.

BATON ROUGE, La.—The New York Giants and Cleveland Indians opened their long barnstorming tour here today. They will continue as opponents, with but one two-day intermission, until they clash at Cleveland, April 14 and 15. They played a get-away game at the Indians' camp in New Orleans yesterday, the Giants winning, 2-0.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Making their first stop on the journey home from St. Petersburg, the Yankees today met Baltimore of the International league. The Yankees broke camp at St. Petersburg last night. In their get-away game yesterday the Yankees downed the Cardinals, 9-3. It was the Yankees' eighth victory in 13 starts.

FIGHTS—FOR GRID BERTH
Max Marek, who won the recent Chicago Golden Gloves heavyweight title, reported for football practice at Notre Dame, where he is a student, shortly after winning his amateur fight crown.

SAY COCHRANE TO REJOIN HIS CLUB THURSDAY

LAKELAND, Fla., April 2.—(UP)—Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers is suffering with appendicitis, but his condition has not yet reached a surgical state. Dr. G. C. Freeman, in charge of the case, announced today.

"Cochrane's condition is such that we can clear it up in a short time," Dr. Freeman said. "Cochrane should be back in uniform by Thursday."

Attendees relieved distress with ice packs.

There was a possibility, doctors said, that Mickey might have strained an abdominal muscle. He has been batting fungoes this spring for the first time in his career.

The famous catcher was first stricken with cramps at Orlando Saturday, just before a Detroit-Brooklyn game. Physicians feared appendicitis and advised him to go to a hospital, but Mickey returned to Lakeland with the club.

He was again ordered to the hospital. He felt better Sunday morning and drove his auto 60 miles to Clearwater to direct the Tigers against Newark.

Shortly after his arrival he was stricken again. He was rushed to Lakeland and placed in the hospital.

Coach Del Baker is managing the club during Mickey's absence. Baker was in charge yesterday when the Tigers beat Newark, 10 to 6. Ray Hayworth is replacing Mickey behind the bat.

GREEN CATS SPLIT WITH SANTA ANITA
After dropping the opener by a 3-1 margin, the Green Cats came back to rout Santa Anita, 16-3, in the second game of a double-header between the two Santa Ana baseball clubs at Santa Anita Sunday.

The first contest was a pitchers' duel between Miller of Santa Anita and Fariss and Mallett. Although Santa Anita bunched three blows for its two winning runs, "Babe" Gordon's homer was the only run the Cats could get off Miller.

The nightcap started out as another close game, Miller trying an iron-man role on the slab, but he was chased in the fourth round and his successors were treated even more roughly by the Green Cat swatmen.

Local Track Seeks Tieup With Ascot

Promoter Jack Fredericks was in Los Angeles today negotiating with "higher up" officials of the National Motorcycle association in an effort to secure a better class of riders next Sunday than appeared at the Santa Ana club's track on Newport boulevard yesterday.

Aside from a few of the outstanding drivers, who again had motor trouble that kept them from outstanding efforts, Fredericks expressed dissatisfaction with the caliber of broadsiders that were sent here. He hopes to tie up with Ascot promoters who begin their 1934 season this week.

Jack Beckhold again won the final scratch race of four laps in 1 min. 24.4 sec., with John Hudspeth second and "Bones" Demma third. Hudspeth, the best rider at the track, led into the stretch where his motor failed him.

Neither Demma nor Dick Cravens were able to lower the course record, complaining the track was too rough. Demma circled it in 20.1 sec., Cravens in 20.4.

"Angel" Alari showed plenty of class as a driver but engine trouble kept him from winning any of the purses.

IMPROVED S. A. BALL TEAM TO MEET INDIANS

Out to avenge a 11-1 setback received several weeks ago, Clyde Cook's Santa Ana Saints entertain Fullerton's Indians on Poly field tomorrow at 3 p. m. in a baseball game leading up to their Coast Preparatory league inauspicious start at Glendale Friday.

With a revamped lineup that has increased their hitting strength, the Saints should hold the uncouth team to a close score. Even a victory will not surprise observers who have watched the Santa Anas in recent workouts.

Either Willie Jones or Fred Erdhaus will go moundward for the Saints. Both probably will be in the starting lineup, one to play center field, Al Halderman will catch.

Jesse Ojeda, first; Art Nieblas, second; Tom Lacy, short; Harold Jesse, third; Fred Southworth, left field; and Calvin Stoddard, right field, complete a tentative lineup. While Paul Bingle, '32 regular, has been ineligible the past two weeks, Lacy has made such a spectacular showing at shortstop that Bingle will have a difficult time repossessing the infield berth. If Hitoshi Nitta, recovering from a leg injury, is able to start at second, the hard-hitting Nieblas will replace Stoddard in the outfield.

Joe Herbert, who was touched for eight hits in the first game, probably will work for Fullerton, with Whitfield serving behind the plate.

That Santa Diego H. champion of the Coast Preparatory league for the past three years, has another powerful baseball team ready for its 1934 campaign was evident today. The Hillers won a tournament at Pomona Saturday by defeating Covina, 16-2, in the final of an invitational meet which attracted nearly thirty high school teams.

Walter Tallamante, Santa Diego's new mound find, stopped Covina with seven scattered hits.

Fine Finish Saves Hollywood
Hollywood's "come through" finish cost Santa Ana a straight road into the semi-finals. Clean sweeps by the Ed Holmes-Bill Foote and Lawrence Bemis-Dick Ewert combinations, and a 2 1/2-point win by the Ray Chapman-Warren Fletcher and Lawrence Coffing-Ed Farnsworth tandems sent the home guard's hopes soaring, but Hollywood's talented teams shot superlative golf in the pinch.

Dr. Louis Felsenthal sank a 35-foot putt on the last green to take three points from Dr. Ross and Nick Thompson, with Dr. Felsenthal and his partner, A. H. Moore, having a best-ball of 76. Then to make matters worse for Santa Ana, the Hollywood outfit's last team rolled in with another three points, H. Elbert and George Toop, contributing a best-ball of 75, better than either the No. 1 or No. 2 Hollywood teams.

The summary:
Ed Holmes and W. W. Foote (SA) 3 points; Bob Robinson and Lee Wheaton (H) 0; L. W. Bemis and Dick Ewert (SA) 3; James Lewis and J. V. Dillman (H) 0.

L. H. Robinson and J. K. McDonald (SA) 1; Mat Corwin and C. L. Lewis (H) 2; Ray Chapman and Warren Fletcher (SA) 1; W. S. Moore and F. E. Farnsworth (H) 3; L. D. Coffing and F. E. ## THIRD MATCH NECESSARY IN GOLF PLAYOFFS

Santa Ana and Hollywood will meet on the neutral Riviera course next Sunday, at 1 p. m., in a playoff of their tie in the Southern California quarter-finals match here Sunday.

Final arrangements were completed by officials late today, ending a brief period of uncertainty as to whether a mid-week contest would be necessary.

Despite semi-official instructions to play off their tie sometime this week on a neutral course, golf teams of the Santa Ana and Hollywood Country clubs today demanded another match next Sunday to decide which would continue in the Southern California championship series against Los Angeles, Palos Verdes and Fox Hills.

Santa Ana and Hollywood finished their home-and-home match in a deadlock, 21-21. Hollywood won the first half at Hollywood, 12-9, and Santa Ana won here yesterday by exactly the same margin.

Harry Wesbrook, chairman of the team match committee of the Southern Golf association, said the teams would have to get together again sometime during this week, ruling there could be no postponement of the survivor's next match with Los Angeles.

Mid-week Match Used
Wesbrook was quoted as follows: "There can be no postponement of play due to ties," Wesbrook said. "Los Angeles will play either Hollywood of Santa Ana next Sunday and it is strictly up to Santa Ana and Hollywood to get together at their mutual convenience some time during the week in plenty of time to have one of them ready to face Los Angeles next Sunday."

No schedule has been announced but it is probable that Los Angeles will play its first match at home because of the delay in determining the opponent. The second match a week later would then be played at Hollywood or Santa Ana.

However, both Dr. G. C. Ross of Santa Ana and the fellow captain of the Hollywood golf forces planned to request a postponement. Both leaders said members of their squads would find difficulty abandoning work during the week.

Further, Dr. Ross said there was a precedent for such delay, Santa Ana itself having waited several weeks last year while California and Brentwood played tie after tie in an exasperating effort to determine which was to be a semi-finalist.

GIRL SCOUTS GROUP TO MEET TOMORROW

ORANGE, April 2.—A joint meeting of the Orange Community committee of Girl Scouts and Girl Scout leaders has been announced for Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. Mrs. E. Hallman, chairman of the committee, will preside and the meeting will be held in the basement of the city hall in the Girl Scout headquarters.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, April 2.—An Easter breakfast was served at the Walker Memorial hall to 80 young people of St. John's Lutheran church. Miss Clara Beckman was in charge.

A number of members of the First Presbyterian church are expected to attend the Los Angeles presbyterian Tuesday at the First Presbyterian church of that city. The church is located at the corner of Twentieth and Figueroa streets.

An open meeting of the City Council P.-T. A. will be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Fay Irwin at Irvine park. A pot luck luncheon at noon will precede a business meeting. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Miss Lorraine Ingle, daughter of Otis Ingle, of North Glassell street, a student at the California Christian college in Los Angeles, is enjoying a vacation at home.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Lydick and son, Billy, 133 West Palmyra avenue, spent Sunday in Riverside.

Meetings of the two newly organized groups of the Junior auxiliary of the American Legion have been announced. The first group of girls up to 10 years of age will meet at the American Legion clubhouse Thursday at 3:15 p. m. and the second group, from 10 to 18 years of age will meet Friday, at 3:45 p. m. at the same place.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR REBEKAH GROUP

ORANGE, April 2.—New officers were elected at a recent meeting of the Fast Noble Grand's association at the I. O. O. F. hall, as follows: President, Mrs. Ida Campbell; first vice president, Mrs. Abbie Gould; second vice president, Mrs. Claudia Windolph; secretary, Mrs. Fannie Parker, treasurer, Mrs. Lucy Richards, chaplain, Mrs. Alice Shell; guard, Mrs. Mary Edwards.

Installation of new officers will take place on April 27, with the district deputy president of Rebekahs lodges, Mrs. Mildred Allen, of Anaheim, conducting the ceremonies. She will be assisted by Mrs. Eva Scott, of Anaheim.

During the business session, Mrs. Alma Coffey, who served as president last year, presided, and three new members were welcomed, Mrs. Elizabeth Roddeck, Mrs. Meta Ragsdale and Mrs. Millie Bomboy. Red roses were chosen to deck the lodge rooms during the meeting and a color theme of pink and green emphasized the lodge colors in the appointments for the tables when dinner was served. Pink and green tapers in attractive holders and were used to light the tables, which were centered with pink roses.

Mrs. C. A. Palmer headed the committee in charge of the dinner and assisting her were Mrs. C. A. Palmer, Mrs. Anna Linnartz, Mrs. Katie Heintzen and Mrs. Meta Ragsdale.

Villa Park

VILLA PARK, April 2.—Mrs. Hill and son, Stanley Gierle Hill, of Los Angeles, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morningstar. They are former Villa Park residents.

Friends of Mrs. Elma T. Lee, of Orange, will be glad to know that she is slowly recovering from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morningstar were Los Angeles business visitors one day recently. While there they called on Mrs. Morningstar's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Durfee.

Paul Spennetta, who is a student at Stanford university, spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spennetta. Miss Betty Spennetta, who is at U. C. L. A., was home Saturday.

Mrs. Thillie Walker, of Los Angeles, and Miss Florence Hahn, of Anaheim, were recent visitors here.

'IMMORTALITY' DISCUSSED BY REV. DUNNING

ORANGE, April 2.—Easter services at the First Methodist church were marked by a baptismal service when nine children and three adults received baptism. A large congregation was present, and huge bouquets of calla lilies arranged by Miss Cloe Jones decorated the choir platform and chancel. Thirty persons were received by the pastor, Dr. J. E. Dunning, into church membership, 17 by letter and 13 by profession of faith.

The music was furnished by the Young People's chorus, directed by Mrs. George Swift Harper, with Mrs. Ola Ratliff Hartman at the piano.

Dr. Dunning's sermon was on "The Quest of Immortality." He called attention to the persistence of this belief from the earliest dawnings of human history, and called attention to the fact that it is called into question by more seriously thoughtful people today than ever before. He declared that a scientific laboratory demonstration of the fact of the future life is impossible, but that it is equally impossible to prove that death ends human existence.

"Much of the present doubt is due in part to the change in our views that scientific knowledge has made necessary, but the views of future life which we have thus had to abandon were childish material conceptions that are not at all necessary to immortality," he said. "We used to put heaven in the skies, and hell in the fires of the earth's interior." He quoted Georgia Harkness, professor in Elmira college, as saying, "As a child I listened to a preacher who used to warn us to flee from the devil's clutch, for 'hell is only 18 miles away.'" Another worthy divine used to say that he expected when he got to heaven "to go skipping from star to star."

"Our knowledge of the earth and of astronomy had led us to abandon these primitive ideas," Dr. Dunning said. "The fact that figurative Bible descriptions have been interpreted as literal descriptions of heaven has also led to disillusion. Nobody wants to sit on a cloud or even play a harp forever."

"It has been said that the desire for immortality is selfish. No more so than to wish to live tomorrow or next week. Selfishness consists not in the desire to

THE CIRCUS IS HERE

BARNES CIRCUS THRILLS S. A. FOLKS TODAY

The circus is here: Alarm clocks, set to interrupt dreams of the wildest of wild animals and dizziest of gymnastic performances, sent many a youngster tumbling from bed and off to the railroad yards before sun. Al G. Barnes circus is in Santa Ana and camped at South Main and Anahurst street.

In addition to the performance this afternoon, another exhibition will be given tonight the doors opening promptly at 7 o'clock to permit an inspection of the world's largest zoological collection. On account of the length of the big show, it will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Enlarged two-fold since its last appearance here through the absorbing of the Sells-Floto circus by the great Al G. Barnes combined shows, the amalgamation has resulted in the world's largest amusement institution. The menagerie tent is the largest ever constructed and contains nearly half a hundred dens and cages containing practically every species of wild animals. Two caravans of camels from Siberia and the Great Desert, along with three great herds of elephants are a part of the consolidated menagerie.

Among the arenic stars in the augmented circus of 1934 are the Flying Clarksonian troupe of amazing aerialists from England who defy the laws of gravitation in bird-like flights through space, climaxing their act with a triple somersault. The Hanneford family of European bareback riders with "Poodles" Hanneford, riding clown, are undisputed champions to be seen. Phil Escalante, dancing, tumbling acrobat of the tight wire is a direct importation from Mexico. His good looking sister Esther, petite and charming aerial fire-fly, climaxes her act on a flying trapeze, turning a somersault, only to catch by her heels.

Mabel Stark, international famed trainer of wild animals will be seen in a huge steel arena with a group of 20 performing royal Bengal tigers, lions, and other wild animals. Old timers of the circus declare it to be the greatest act in all the long history of the "white tops."

"The Fiesta of the Rio Grande," a gorgeous, processional fiesta, depicting all the charm and romance of the golden age, serves as a prelude to the main performance. Upwards of 1000 men, women, horses and strange beasts of the forest and jungles are to be seen in this panoramic extravaganza.

Evidently the depression is a forgotten headache for the Al G. Barnes circus is this season enjoying a phenomenal business. S. L. Cronin, manager of the circus, said today that this season to date has been the greatest in the 26 years the show has toured America and continental Europe. Continuing he said: "Business is 40 per greater than last season and 10 per cent better than in 1929." He is of the opinion that the NRA is greatly responsible for the tremendous increase in business.

The circus will depart at midnight over the Santa Fe railroad for San Bernardino where it will exhibit Tuesday for two performances.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, April 2.—Mrs. Percy Lawrence visited her sister, Mrs. Reuben Farnsworth, Thursday, at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where she submitted to an operation a week ago. Mrs. Farnsworth is convalescing satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Weir, of Los Angeles, have rented the former W. E. Wells home at Cedarwood and Sixteenth street, New Westminster, and will move here at once. Mrs. Weir is a sister of Mrs. Hill, of Eleventh street, New Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Menard joined a large party of friends from Fullerton and Placentia on a picnic at Irvine park.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clough and son, Gerald Clough, spent Sunday in Los Angeles as dinner guests of relatives.

"Isn't there any hope?"

Just a skin disease or a stomach disorder can lead to your dog's death. And according to veterinarians, today's cheap "waste product" foods are too frequently the cause.

All because pet owners don't realize the chances they take in shopping for bargain dog foods. Better to pay a penny or so more per can for a tested food like Balto.

No "packers' refuse" in Balto. Only pure, wholesome ingredients, including fresh-caught fish—the diet of the Huskies, those perfect specimens of dog health.

Veterinarians, pet hospitals, a leading university, breeders, and kennel owners unite in recommending this scientifically correct ration. Get some for your dog today. At all grocers.

You see your dentist or your doctor periodically. Your dog should be taken to a veterinarian regularly, too. It isn't expensive, but it's very much worth while.

"Renovize" Campaign To Be Launched Wednesday

STIMULATION OF BUSINESS ANTICIPATED

Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization, will launch a "renovize" campaign designed to stimulate business and increase employment in this city, on Wednesday. It was announced today by George A. Raymer, secretary of the chamber. The campaign will extend until August 4.

Other Orange county cities are planning similar campaigns. The plan used in Santa Ana has been proven successful in many cities, including Salt Lake City, Portland, Cleveland and others. It is reported.

It is believed by those in charge of the plan, that with a cost of but $650, new business amounting to $500,000 can be produced in this city by having property owners in the city sign pledges agreeing to clean, paint, remodel, modernize their places, or purchase new goods for the properties. It is anticipated that employment will be furnished for 500 men for 90 days.

Will Put Many To Work
Work will be furnished many canvases in addition to those directly employed to do the job of renovizing. It is hoped that at least a part of the survey work may be paid from CWA, Emergency Relief, or PWA funds. Demobilization of CWA workers in Orange county makes the plan to create jobs even more essential, it was brought out.

Plans are under way to secure "WE GAVE A JOB" stickers, similar to the NRA stickers, which will be awarded to property owners who have earned them by renovizing some part of their homes or business buildings.

J. P. Baumgartner, president of the chamber, has been named general chairman of the campaign, while the general campaign manager will be John W. Estes. Raymer will serve as secretary and Alex Brownridge as treasurer. Members of the executive committee are W. J. Tway, chairman; A. N. Zerman, H. P. Rankin, C. M. Gilbert and J. S. Hill.

In addition to special committees to be announced later, committee appointments announced today are as follows:

Campaign Committee
The campaign committee, which will work in conjunction with the board of directors of the chamber, is comprised of presidents and heads of various clubs and organizations of the city, including Stanley E. Goods, chairman, William Penn, W. J. Tway, Claude J. McDowell, George McConnell, E. R. Sharpley, Theodore Winbigler, R. Carson Smith, Ferris Scott, Hubert Bown, Ridley Smith, Mrs. C. V. ## LAGUNA BEACH GIRL WINNER OF BOAT RACE

Miss Gwendolyn Joyce of Laguna Beach, sailing her yawl, "Flying Cloud", won first place in yesterday's sailing races, in the P. C. class, at Newport Beach, also winning the series of performance handicap races that have been going on at the harbor for the past several weeks. Miss Joyce is a novice boat-woman, having bought the "Flying Cloud" from Charles Farrell, moving picture star, but recently.

Edmund Locke annexed second place with his "Robin", and Tommy Dankworth took third, sailing his "Agora".

Bill McKinney, veteran boat racer, capsized into a choppy sea with his boat, "Skimmer", No. 45 as he participated in the P. C. class races in the performance handicap series. H. C. Rose, a racer in the same heat, turned about to pick up McKinney, giving up a good chance to win the race. Rose was sailing his boat the "Tern". Billy Lyon, also well known among water craft racers, lost a mast, which broke off and fell into the sea, thus putting him out of the P. C. class race. He was towed into the bay by Harry Grant with a judge's power boat.

Mrs. William Bartholomae won first honors in the six meter race for women, sailing her "Mystery", No. 57. Mrs. Al Rogers took second place in the series with her "Synovae", 37. Mrs. Russell Simmonds finished first yesterday but she didn't take a place in the series as she had not yet started before.

William Bartholomae finished in first place in the star boat races with his "Turtle Star", No. 58, thus winning first place for the day and the series. Others racing in the star class finished in the following order: second, Lehman and McClure with the "Tom Robin", 296; third, Beardsley and Webster in the "Molra", 526; fourth, Bob Ziegler with "Win Blu", 329; fifth, Worth Dickey with "Vega II", 595; sixth, Jimmy Grant in "Barbara G", 297; and seventh, Simpson and Sampson in their "West Wind", 616.

Snowbird racers for the day finished as follows: first, Sunny Jessberg; second, Fred Rice; and third, Barton Beck.

The races were sailed on the ocean just off Newport Beach and Balboa in what was considered a rather choppy sea for such light craft. It was stated by those interested. Judges for the day were Joseph Beck, Harry Grant and Ralph H. Rollins.

BARBER CITY
BARBER CITY, April 2.—Mrs. C. Stepp, of Garden Grove, have taken the Sawyer residence on Rancho place in Barber City.

The families of Mrs. Roy Riggs and Mrs. George McCay motored to Glendale Sunday as guests at a dinner party.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Olson were ill at their home for several days as the result of ptomaine poisoning.

Mrs. Roy Riggs was a Los Angeles visitor Friday.

For A. F. Moulton, Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford and C. M. Gilbert. Loyal King is chairman of the publicity committee. Other members are Ralph Smedley, T. E. Stephenson, Frank Henderson, the Rev. C. M. Aker and Sam Hurwitz.

The ways and means committee is headed by Chairman James N. Harding, and other members are A. C. Hasenjaeger, O. H. Barr, Charles O. Norton and John Knox. The finance committee is comprised of R. A. Emison, chairman, Stanley Goods, Fred Newcomb, Walter Vandermaast, George R. Wells, F. C. Mock, H. B. Van Dien, S. C. Russell, A. W. Gerrard, C. H. Chapman, P. C. Dietler, L. W. McFarlane, Plummer Bruns, E. L. Pearson and Oliver Halsell.

John W. Estes is chairman of the survey committee, assisted by M. E. Geeting and Jules Markel. Exhibits and display committee is headed by Russell E. Caldwell. Other members are George Spielman, C. F. Skirvin, E. L. Lucas, R. E. Reid, F. A. Jones, Robert L. Brown, J. H. Bell, H. L. Silver, B. J. MacMullen and L. D. Coffing.

PARAGRAPHS FOR ANALYSIS OF HANDWRITING STARTED

BY MAUD MOSHER

The politician who lacks tact, the artist without faith in himself and the stenographer without initiative are doomed to failure. Yet by understanding their handicaps, they can cultivate these traits. Just one little thing may stand in the way of your success—just a mere trifle which can be corrected.

The trouble is we are so close to ourselves, we do not see these little things. Our friends do not wish to hurt our feelings and say nothing. Neither do I, but I point out the little things that interfere with your success. I tell you your good and bad traits. If you wish to know the truth and understand what to capitalize and what traits to conquer, fill out the coupon on this page and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with 10 cents. Send these to Maud Mosher, care of The Register, with a sample of your writing or any one else's writing and 10 cents for each person's writing to be analyzed.

I will send you my booklet listing the numbers which explain your good and bad traits impartially. This is absolutely confidential between you and me. Below are the numbered paragraphs which refer to the numbers in the analysis sent to those requesting it. Clip this and keep it until the entire series is completed.

Number 1—Political Type—You have the faculty of managing other people. You are a good judge of character and are interested in politics, or position. You have high power value. The greater influence and renown attached to a position, the more it appeals to your executive qualities.

Number 23—Your Marriage Partner—You will be happiest married to the domestic and economic types. You enjoy protecting your mate and you may say little but your actions will show a strong love nature. You will cooperate well.

Number 48—Handicaps—You gain pleasure in things of value. When overdeveloped this leads to miserliness and selfishness.

Number 51—Social Traits—You are very diplomatic. You have the art of telling unpleasant things pleasantly.

Number 65—Business Traits—You have a good memory, ability to associate facts, to compare and analyze them. This makes it easy for you to preserve events with details like a card index system, able to recall and remember when wanted.

Number 82—Your Hobbies—Your open a, d, g or o shows your hobbies will include some form of entertaining people by acting, singing or talking.

Number 96—Your "L" bar—Your "L" bar shows a refined, cultured nature. You are interested in the finer things of nature.

NOTED RECIPES PROMISED FOR COOKING EVENT

Recipes from 'round the world! Recipes so old that they are new! Recipes so new that no local table has yet been graced with them! And each recipe simple and inexpensive, yet wholly delicious!

This, in short is what is promised to local housewives in The Register-Safeway Stores course in "Kitchening" which opens a three-day session next Wednesday at the Fox West Coast theater with 10 o'clock set as starting time, doors to be opened at 9 o'clock.

Complete equipment for the cooking school will be furnished by the J. C. Horton Furniture company, it was announced today.

The stage equipment the Horton company will furnish includes a Gaffers and Sattler kitchen range, a Hoosier kitchen cabinet, tables, chairs, and other furniture and equipment. A featured attraction in the event will be the giving away of a Gaffers and Sattler range during the school, it was announced.

According to advices received from Mrs. Julia Lee Wright, national director of the Safeway Stores Homemakers Bureau, each of the three days will feature one type of food-preparation, but not to the exclusion of all others, each program being carefully balanced to provide the utmost interest.

Coming here as Mrs. Wright's personal representative to conduct the cooking school after years of experience and weeks of special preparation on "Kitchening" 1934 edition is Mrs. Edith Jeffers Freeman. Fitted not only by university training in home economics, but by a background of practical work in this field as well as by house-making of her own, Mrs. Freeman has come to be looked upon by her contemporaries as one of the outstanding home-economists of the West.

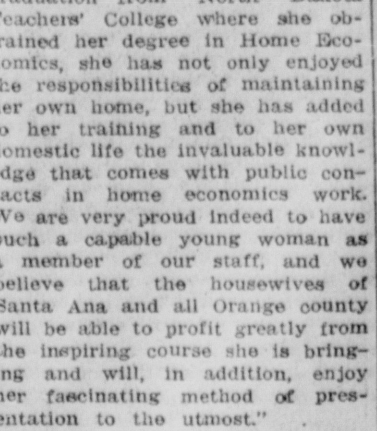

In the words of Mrs. Wright: "Mrs. Edith Jeffers Freeman combines the viewpoint of youthful enthusiasm with the mellowing influence of experience. Since her graduation from North Dakota Teachers' College where she obtained her degree in Home Economics, she has not only enjoyed the responsibility of maintaining her own home, but she has added to her training and to her own domestic life the invaluable knowledge that comes with public contacts in home economics work. We are very proud indeed to have such a capable young woman as a member of our staff, and we believe that the housewives of Santa Ana and all Orange county will be able to profit greatly from the inspiring course she is bringing and will, in addition, enjoy her fascinating method of presentation to the utmost."

"Thou, O Lord, remainest for ever; thy throne from generation to generation." These words from Lamentations were the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Reality" yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

One of the Scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon cited Paul's words to the Corinthians, "And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work." Another citation contained Paul's words to the Philippians, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure,

HERE SOON

Mrs. Edith Jeffers Freeman, below, home economist with the Safeway Stores Homemakers bureau, will conduct classes in "Kitchening" in the Register-Safeway Stores cooking school which will open for a three day session Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Fox West Coast theater.

whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, said "If sin, sickness, and death were understood as nothingness, they would disappear. As vapor melts before the sun, so evil would vanish before the reality of good. One must hide the other. How important, then, to choose good as the reality!"

POPPY POSTER JUDGES NAMED FOR CONTEST

Judges for the annual poppy poster contest sponsored by the Auxiliary of Santa Ana American Legion Post No. 131 which will take place in Veterans hall, Santa Ana, tomorrow beginning at 10 a. m. will be Miss Helen Glancy, Mrs. John Newman and Miss Hazel Bemis, it was announced today.

Students in junior high schools have been busy for some time completing posters which will be entered in the contest, staged every year prior to the drive for the sale of poppies. Money derived from the sale of poppies, which are made by veterans in hospitals and soldier's homes, is used as a benefit for the veterans.

All of the twenty-first district, of which Orange county is a part, is included in the contest. Lola Johnson, of San Bernardino, district poppy drive chairman, will be an honored guest at the judging tomorrow.

A district meeting and luncheon will be held in Veterans hall tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. which will be attended by many district officials. Mrs. Arthur Eklund, president of the Santa Ana Auxiliary, will welcome guests.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

Easter Wedding Given Pretty Setting in Church

Easter Sunday gained new significance for Miss Geraldine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Smith, 2387 North Flower street, and Corwin Frazee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Frazee, yesterday afternoon when the young couple exchanged vows at a pretty ceremony in First Congregational church.

At 4 o'clock a musical program was begun by Alan Revell, who played organ selections, also accompanying Miss Peggy Warburton as she played violin solos, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "O, Promise Me." The bridal group entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mr. Revell.

The Rev. Perry Schrock, pastor, read the ceremony with great sheaf of Easter lilies.

Given in marriage by her father, Herman A. Smith, Miss Smith wore a gown of lovely silk crepe, with a special bridal touch with sprays of orange blossoms. She wore a close fitting hat with tiny veil. Her flowers were Easter lilies, white sweet peas and fern.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Carol Smith, wearing blue satin, and Mrs. Louis Pratt, wearing apricot silk. Both wore white picture hats and carried shower bouquets of white carnations and forget-me-nots. Little Miss Joan Barker, wearing pink silk, made a charming flower girl.

Ralph Morris attended Mr. Frazee as best man. Ushers were Kenneth Lamb and Ford Underwood.

Mr. Revell played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as a recessional, and the new Mr. and Mrs. Frazee went to the church entrance to receive congratulations of the many guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazee left for a honeymoon trip to Yosemite National Park, planning to return to Santa Ana to take up housekeeping in a home awaiting their return.

Out-of-town guests present for the event, included Mr. and Mrs. William Weldon, South Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Porter and family, Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Riser, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Craig and daughter, Marguerite, Bakersfield.

1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.

Calory total, 310.

Strawberries will soon be plentiful, so let's get out our trusty berry recipe and see what's what. The first one will be Frozen Strawberries, the nicest of all desserts, to my mind. Clean the berries, wash lightly, sweeten, set them in a bowl, freeze, and serve with spoonful of whipped cream.

Strawberry Tart is another grand way of serving berries for special occasions. Bake a pie shell. Pile the shell full of choice berries, lightly sifted with powdered sugar and set aside for the moment.

For the jelly part take one basket of berries, hull, crush, and bring to a boil, adding 1 cup of water and 2-3 cup sugar. When the berries are well cooked, take off the fire and strain the juice. Return to fire and color it if too pale (vegetable coloring). Stir into the boiling juice enough corn starch to make a thick drippy syrup out of it. Continue cooking for fifteen minutes, then cool and pour over the berry-filled tart. Chill and serve with whipped cream.

Wedding Announcement Received With Much Friendly Interest

An event of Saturday which aroused the warm interest of a world of Santa Ana and Orange friends, was the quiet marriage in Baldwin Park of Mrs. Jessie H. Burns, 806 East Fourth street, and Olin E. Steward, 321 North Philadelphia street, Anaheim.

Only close relatives of the two were bidden to the wedding which took place in the Baldwin Park home of Mrs. Burns' daughter, Mrs. J. S. Bacon. The Rev. George A. Warner, D.D., pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, Santa Ana, read the service. Mrs. Burns has been one of the most prominent members of that congregation over a period of many years. She has been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 46 years and has been active in church and club circles. Her son, Edward H. Burns, is one of the Southland's leading "cellists."

Mr. Steward, a civil engineer by profession, is an Anaheim pioneer. He has a beautiful home on North Philadelphia street, in that city, where he and his bride will receive their many friends after April 15.

Surprise Dinner

Completely unknown to Mr. Steward and his bride, the daughters and daughter-in-law of the latter had planned an elaborate dinner to follow the early evening rites, and a musical program, played by Miss Katherine Steward, pianist, and Edward Burns, cellist.

They had decked the dining room of the beautiful Bacon home with orange blossom garlands and petals and glossy leaves reflecting the glow of white tapers in silver candelabra. The bridal motif was apparent in all details, including the cards which denoted places for the new Mr. and Mrs. Steward, and for the immediate relatives who comprised the wedding guests.

These were Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Burns of this city, the latter's brother, Fred Pinkerton; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bacon and their children, Evelyn and Judge and Mrs. Kenneth Steward; Mr. Steward's daughter, Miss Katherine Steward of Anaheim; his sister, Miss Alma Steward, Miss Kathleen Steward, a niece, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Steward of Fullerton, with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Henderson. Included in the bridal party also were three close friends of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick and Miss Grace Grigsby, with Dr. and Mrs. Warner to complete the group.

When Mr. and Mrs. Hill took leave of their guests and started for their honeymoon at Arrowhead, Mrs. Hill donned a smart swaggar suit in rose tones, worn with white dress accessories. They will live in Canoga Park where Mr. Hill will be connected in business with his bride's brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, Canoga.

Mrs. Hill completed Santa Ana High school and Junior college, later graduating from Arizona State Teachers' college at Flagstaff. Mr. Hill is a graduate of Anaheim High school.

Guests at the wedding included his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold C. Maass and daughter Elaine, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hill, all of Anaheim; the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, her aunt and cousins, Mrs. Mabel Kendall, the Misses Hum and Kay.

MASONS GUESTS OF BAPTISTS IN EASTER SERVICE

The Easter sermon at the First Baptist church had "The Easter Urge" as its subject. The Santa Ana Commandery of Knights Templar were the special guests for the service. The minister said in part:

"In John Masfield's play, 'The Trial of Jesus' Pilate's wife asks the centurion if Jesus is dead and he replies, 'No, not dead... let loose in the world, lady, let loose in the world where neither Roman nor Jew can stop his truth.' It is suggestive of the Easter urge, the defeat of some things in our lives that a larger and finer life may be released. The grain of wheat dies but its death is the means to the loosing of the larger life. Our American poet speaks of the chambered nautilus in its death to the old confining shell and its seeking a more spacious residence as a parable for man to build 'more stately mansions' and leave the 'low-vaunted past' to occupy a temple with a 'dome more vast.'"

"If any man," says Paul, 'is in Christ he is a new creature. Old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.' We feel the Easter urge to become new creatures and to rise above our dead past."

"The Easter urge is first to break with the old habits of self-centered living, the merciless, cold, heartless attitude toward one's fellows, the habit of holding grudges and old resentments, the prevalent habit of this troubled day of undue worry and fretfulness and anxiety. The Easter urge is to feel that stir of might and release, that impulse within us that pushes us on to nobler things."

"The Easter urge also is to urge to break with our thinking in the terms of the particular class or group to which we belong and to come to think in the terms of the wider humanity. The employer is inclined to think just as the employing class thinks and to adopt in toto the class point of view. The laboring man sees things only from the point of view of the laboring man. So of the rich man or the poor man, the man of one political party or the other, the man of a certain religious denomination or sect, or the man of a certain race or nation. Such thinking makes a man less of a man than he may become. It keeps him from the larger sympathies and points of view. The Easter urge is to let the class and group thinking die more and more while the thinking in terms of humanity comes to greater birth.

"Again, the Easter urge is to break with that strange indifference we have had to Jesus Christ and his challenge to the best within us and come face to face with the question of what he would have us be and do. How often we hold respect for Christ but not devotion, have admiration but not wholehearted commitment, follow afar off and not like Simon of Cyrene come close enough to be asked to carry his cross in an emergency. How often we allow some prejudice or foolish excuse to keep us from coming to close grips with the question, 'What shall I do with Jesus?' And in these days of world turmoil and uncertainty as to the future of the world's life we had better face the question as to whether there is anything more essential than we follow the way of the Nazarene. Two men walked the way to Emmaus him on that first Easter Day and at first did not recognize him. But when they did they spoke of a strange glow and warmth of heart that attended them in their association with him. So this Easter Day the Easter urge is to leave our cool indifference to him and his claims and to rise that more abundant life with him in which we become new creatures in Christ, old things put away and all things become new."

Midway City

MIDWAY CITY, April 2.—Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hanover, who have been proprietors of a garage and service station on Huntington Beach boulevard, are leaving Midway City. They have not decided definitely where they will locate. The house and lot located on Monroe street, which was formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Whitson, has been sold to Seal Beach people, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lockner. The new owners will move here soon. Mr. Lockner is employed by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company at Seal Beach.

SPEAKER SAYS RESURRECTION A FUNDAMENTAL

James H. Sewell yesterday spoke on the Resurrection of Christ, in relation to His sacrifice, before a fine audience at the Broadway and Walnut Church of Christ.

He said, in part: "The Resurrection of Christ is a fundamental to Christian faith. It has been assailed by critics and derided by scoffers, but no fact of which the following can be said can be considered an untruth."

(1) It was a sensible fact. Men saw Him; felt His wounds and heard His voice. Later they died to proclaim the glad news.

(2) It was a fact of great notoriety, sweeping as it did throughout the civilized world. Truly "it was not done in a corner."

(3) Today two great institutions commemorate His death, burial and resurrection. Paul said of baptism, "For if we have become united with him in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection" (Rom. 6:5). As long as time shall last, the Lord's Supper and baptism will be living monuments unto Him.

(4) The fact that such have existed until today proves that which they celebrate is not without foundation.

Behind the story of the risen Savior is the eternal sacrifice of His love. A true triumph is built upon a true sacrifice. He who existed "in the form of God counted not the being on an equality with God a thing to be grasped; but emptied himself, taking the form of a servant" (Phil. 2:6, 7). His sacrifice and triumph inspires us to live as He dictates as best we may.

"Wherefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as yet know that your labor is not vain in the Lord" (I Cor. 15:58).

The orchid hunter would help her, she knew. "I had the soft eyes which deny an enjoyment of torture."

"Go, stranger and with God!" she repeated between her groans. So the Cuban boy had gone after one last glance toward the darkness of the " " and after crossing himself.

Pablito, in the house of Cerro, sank back in his chair, his brow furrowed. He had grown older in a very short time. He was still sure that — day, some how he would locate Noyes and that again they would dwell in that peace he now thought of as close to Utopia.

He arose to pay the messenger and the boy, reasoning himself of the fact that he had been in the swamp, went on his way.

Lottie appeared then. "To bad, honey," she said, laying a hand on Pablito's shoulder. He realized that the only sincere kindness he knew these days came from Lottie. He thought, "Some time, in some way, I must repay her."

And this seed, sprung from his sense of fairness, grew into a heavy sense of duty but his gratitude was — he dormant longer than he could guess.

Norma Field and Estelle had settled in Tucson, Ariz. Norma, knowing that she could not live long, clutched the hours with Estelle jealously. Meanwhile she made a brave pretense of feeling better.

Estelle sat by her mother's bed constantly, watching with tragic young eyes and smiling stiffly.

"Darling, you should go out more; you should get more exercise."

"I'm afraid it must be stupid for you, dear, panned up with me."

"I want to be here, mother."

past and of what was ahead. She had begun to understand her father through his attitude about Pablito. He had been ruthless in refusing to listen to her defense of the boy. He would be kind, she realized, as long as he had his way and wholly cruel if antagonized. She feared the years when she — not be alone with him. "Are you comfortable, mother?" "Quite, dear heart—" But her mother poked slowly at with long gaps between her words and always there was the flush of fever on her sunken cheeks and the brightness of it in her eyes. # THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Hurrah! We're sailing o'er the sea, and we're as happy as can be," sang Duncy, as wee Scouty pulled him slowly to the shore. "This bumbershoot is like a boat. Gee, I am glad the thing will float. I've had enough of swimming, so I don't want any more."

The ant then added, "Nor do I. I'm glad I didn't have to try to reach the shore by swimming. I would still be in midstream."

"I think that Scouty was just grand to throw a rope, and lend a hand. The way that he has rescued us is almost like a dream."

"Well, stop your singing," Scouty cried. "Just pay attention to your ride and see that you don't tumble out until you're safe and sound."

"A wave is coming toward you now. Twill wash you up on shore, somehow. You both can sing till you're tired out, when you are on dry ground."

Then came the wave, and what a swell! The whole bunch heard wee

Duncy yell, "Look out! We've turned a summersault. We're just about to land!"

The next thing that the Tines knew, poor Duncy, and the wee ant, too, went plop upon the shore. The girls rushed up to lend a hand.

As Duncy stood up on his feet, he said, "That really was a treat. It gave me quite an appetite. When do we have some lunch?"

"Oh! Nature Nick, who stood nearby, said, 'Very shortly, lad, 'cause I am hungry, too. Just watch me, now, I have a happy hunch.'"

He promptly clapped his hands in air, and then he shouted, "Hey, look there!" A funny man appeared and shouted, "I'll produce a thrill!"

He shook the bumbershoot a bit and big doughnuts appeared in it. The man began to hand them out. He cried, "All eat your fill!"

'LIVING HOPE' DISCUSSED BY REV. RALSTON

GARDEN GROVE, April 2.—The 10 weeks' campaign put on by the people of the First Methodist church of Garden Grove assisted in an eight day campaign by Dr. E. E. Helms, was brought to a climax Easter. The pastor spoke Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour on the subject of "A Living Hope." He chose as his text First Peter 1:3.

"The advent of Jesus Christ into the world was the fulfillment of the prophecy and the realization of the wishful hopes of humanity," he said. "Christ certainly claimed, and His disciples believed that the matter of the future life was entirely in His hands."

"Christ predicted that He would suffer death, yet His disciples failed to understand the import of his words. It seemed that they could not understand One who claimed to be the resurrection and the light should Himself die. He had lived like other men, and they hurried the question at him—'He saved others, Himself He could not save.' Paul was correct in later years when he made the statement, 'If Christ had not been raised, then our preaching is in vain, for there would be nothing to preach. The picture Paul painted of the dead Christ is one of the most hopeless pictures ever painted. A dead Christ could not fulfill promises. A dead Christ could not bestow life unending. The only way that the hope of life could be realized was through the resurrection of Christ. The resurrection of Christ renewed hope and it is the one hope that we can look forward to in this day of special injustice. The resurrection of Jesus is the central truth of Christianity."

The anthem, "Over the Hills of Fair Judea," was directed by I. F. German. The solo, "The Dawning Life," was sung by J. H. Whittington, with John Pearson as organist. The pastor received into membership, through the efforts of 10 weeks' revival campaign, 87 members, making a total to date for the conference year, 102.

In the evening an Easter cantata was given under the direction of Percy Prior and Mr. German. At both services of the day, the church was crowded to its full capacity.

SPRINGDALE

SPRINGDALE, April 2.—Mr. and Mrs. William Kettler and children spent Sunday at Wilmington at a family party composed of Mrs. Kettler's relatives.

Edward Ruoff of Davis Agricultural college spent a few days at home.

Z. D. Crane, local man, caught a nine-pound halibut off the Huntington Beach pier Wednesday morning.

Little Norma Ruoff, of Garden Grove, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ruoff, spent several days as a guest in her grandparents' home.

Mrs. John Kettler motored to Los Angeles Wednesday and was accompanied home by Mrs. E. Kettler, who will visit here for a week or so.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, April 2.—The Rev. Rachel Lockwood of Los Angeles, assisted the local pastor, the Rev. James Flisk, with the pre-Easter services in the El Modena Friends church.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wood are visiting in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Lester Hirst of Berkeley.

Friends here have received announcement of the birth of a daughter to Dr. and Mrs. Hirst. The baby has been named Margaret Ruth.

Beach City Mecca For Young People

NEWPORT BEACH, April 2.—Practically every cottage, hotel and apartment house in the city was filled yesterday, the last day of Collegiate week. All week the beach was covered with young people from the various educational institutions of the Southland. More were present this year than in any year since the special week was inaugurated, it was reported.

A few schools will observe vacations this week and many of the students are expected to come here.

OVER 400 AT SUNRISE RITES IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, April 2.—Nearly 400 attended the annual Easter sunrise service on Tuftree hill yesterday when the churches assisted the chamber of commerce in the annual community offering.

The setting for the service was especially beautiful. Lee Boniface and Clark Suttsong were responsible in large part for the landscaping and decorations.

The meeting opened at 5:45 a. m. with a bugle call. The American Legion post No. 277 provided that feature. Gordon Drow and his crusader singers from Fullerton Episcopal choir sang several groups of sacred music for the occasion. Clarabelle Solesbee gave a pantomime, "The Angel Appears from the Tomb," and the Rev. D. J. Brigham, of the Presbyterian church, led in the invocation. The Rev. R. C. Rogers led in the scripture reading. Edward P. Backus sang a solo, "Victory," with the Rev. Don Milligan accompanying, and the Rev. Mr. Milligan of Calvary church brought as the message of the morning "Three Gospels."

He compared the Garden of Eden with that of Gethsemane and the garden of Joseph where Christ lay in the tomb, and in conclusion said that the garden where Christ arose brought to the world new light, with man released from the sentence of the first garden, the sentence of condemnation.

After special music by the crusaders, the Rev. D. J. Brigham dismissed the audience with the benediction.

Following the services, several groups of young people held Easter breakfasts, including the Intermediate department of the Calvary church, which, under direction of Howard Jerome and Lucille Allen, directors, held a breakfast at the Milo Allen home in Garden Grove.

The children of the three churches had programs in the respective Sunday schools at the regular morning hours. Those participating, individually, at the Calvary church were George Newbolt, Bonnie Osborne, Gwendolyn Bryant and Lois Robbins.

The choir of Calvary church gave a cantata at the morning service, directed by Lawrence Allen. Special musical offerings were given at the Presbyterian church, featuring singing of "The Holy City" by Georgia Carroll, of Fullerton.

JOINT SUNRISE SERVICES HELD AT YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, April 2.—Several hundred persons yesterday morning attended the Easter sunrise service at Yorba Linda, where the churches of Brea and Yorba Linda united.

The services were on Reservoir hill, around a cross erected there. The Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Fullerton, talked to the group.

Participating in the meeting were the Christian church, the Rev. Wesley Runyon, pastor; the Congregational church, the Rev. Donald Gaylord, pastor; the Rev. B. H. Blanchard and the Baptist church and the congregation and pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of Brea and the Rev. Crawford Trotter, and the Methodist congregation and the Rev. Joseph Reese and the Friends congregation of Yorba Linda.

Trumpet solos were featured as musical numbers. J. W. Brown was in charge of arranging for them.

In his message, the Rev. Mr. Hunter took as a text, "Unto you who bear my name shall the son of righteousness arise with healing in His wings."

He brought to the large congregation a thought that in this day of deep distress, the message of Easter is that to those who believe in the Love of God, and who are working with Him, the Son of Righteousness has risen.

He said that in this day some are distressed, the world seems so dark; some are distressed at the new demands of labor, realizing their rights to claim a living; some fear nothing is ahead but a convulsion, a civil war, some are distressed at blindness of a day like this, "when people think the only thing that can settle this danger is to make people afraid of a fist with a club in it; that little way that breeds bitter hate."

In regard to the last attitude he declared that Imperial valley is a reproach to the eyes of the nation, and pleaded that the people of Orange county will see light in time, and that the message of Easter, that of love, may enter into settlement of any strife that may arise.

Following the sunrise service, the young people of the Methodist church held a breakfast at the church. Special Easter programs were given in the churches during the day, in most of the places the children's program being presented at the morning hour.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 2.—(UP)—A more optimistic tone prevailed in Wall Street today, although there were no immediate developments warranting it, and the stock market managed to hold generally above the Saturday close.

A brisk upsurge at the opening, when blocks of 1000 to 14000 shares were sold, gave good start to the market. But trading dropped off and prices started receding. Towards the close the market recovered somewhat and prices were down from their highs. Most changes were fractional.

DR. WIRT

A generation ago, Dr. Wirt, the Superintendent of Schools in Gary, Indiana, was much in the news. In that city, reared on the dunes of Lake Michigan by the United States Steel Corporation, Dr. Wirt was given the opportunity of starting an entirely new system of education. Naturally, his plans attracted nationwide attention; the Department of Education of the City of New York hired him for a day each week to tell the world's metropolis how to do it. He certainly was the big noise in those days in the world of education.

Now again has Dr. Wirt appeared in the news, and for a brief time is again the big noise. He comes forth from his long obscurity—so long, indeed, that it seemed like a resurrection, for many who heard of him in those early days must have thought that he had long since passed on to the reward which awaits all good educators. He comes forth to warn the country against the counsellors of the President, who are supposedly leading that recognized leader of the American people straight to Moscow.

It is to be presumed that Dr. Wirt must have been told something by somebody among that hierarchy of the President's counsellors, for he would not fabricate anything quite so absurd as that out of nothing. But what was told to him? And who was it that told him? And was the good doctor being joshed by somebody who took his fears and suspicions rather lightly? The reports around Washington are that the doctor was suspicious of a be-whiskered Bolshevik under every "Brain Trustee's" bed. He may have told some of them of his suspicion, and they started to have a little fun by spoofing him.

But we are rather of the opinion that there is some planned propaganda behind this whole "Wirt" affair. It should be noted that since the announcement Dr. Wirt has had articles in the paper daily condemning the administration in some form or other. It is another "Sprague" case. We have been more settled in this conviction as today, through the mails, we received releases from the Committee for the Nation, which has had much to do with the promotion of these statements of Dr. Wirt. There is material for release every day for the next week which would cover half a newspaper page. This shows care and plan and preparation and instead of taking up this statement that is alleged to have been made by some appointee of the President the whole series is an attack upon the administration and the measures which the administration has been using to get us out of the depression.

A great many people in America are easily fooled. The President by his insisting that the newspapers should have a code under the NRA and ridiculing them for their pretense that the code was interfering with a free press has aided in making the big metropolitan publishers aids to this "Wirt" kind of propaganda. There is a tremendous effort in the nation to undermine the administration by those industrial and economic forces which don't like the idea that the masses shall have a real champion in the White House. They are not worried about any particular thing. They are simply worried about everything because, as they used to be able to run it as it suited them, it is now being run from the White House with the people being taken into consideration.

DILLINGER ESCAPES AGAIN

Saturday Dillinger, it appears, was trapped in a flat in St. Paul by Federal officers. There was another man and a woman with him in the apartment. He coolly, according to the story, with a machine gun drove the officers to cover while they were hiding around corners, trying to shoot at him without running risks. Bullets were flying in all directions. He, according to the story, went down the front way. The officers hiding, like frightened rabbits. The trio made their getaway. And the officers are continuing to search.

It is an interesting search. When the officers find him they scout. We are not saying this in derision. The truth is we would run, too, if we came in contact with them. We are afraid that we would run farther and faster than these officers did. That is one reason we have not asked for an appointment as a peace officer, in active duty, on a salary. We have felt that the assumption of such a responsibility also takes with it whatever necessary risk is attached to the apprehension and arrest of just such an outlaw as Dillinger. And we simply don't like that kind of a job. Our cowardly feet would tend to run away with our body. But we do believe that the acceptance of such a position should compel us to stick it out and that under such circumstances it is as cowardly to run and let such a fiend go loose as it would be to run on the field of battle.

As Arthur Brisbane points out, the woman in the transaction, with the bullets flying all around her, got into the car, backed it out and took one of the men with her and possibly picked up the other. He says the government should hire that woman.

Maybe there are not officers who have the physical courage to shoot it out and get their man under such circumstances. But if there are such men, who are willing to do it and accept the positions, the fellows who won't do it ought to resign and let the other fellows have their jobs. Possibly the fact that the colored man who accompanied Dillinger killed one man and wounded others when he was himself killed has added to the natural panic that is really in the hearts of these officers who are hunting Dillinger.

NERVES IN EUROPE

Percival Price, carillonner in the Ottawa Parliament building, had an experience in Vienna which illustrates the general nervousness in Europe. He was placed in jail, incommunicado, for a day because he hurried. He went to his barber at ten o'clock, hurrying, as he had several engagements which were to follow the engagement with the barber. He dashed up the stairs of the barber shop. Not seeing his favorite barber, he turned to descend the stairs, and was met by two police officials. They seized him and marched him off to the police station. At seven o'clock in the evening he was brought before the police commissary through the persistent efforts of a friend in the Austrian Foreign Office. His friend told him why he had been put in jail. He had hurried, and he had gone to the same barber Chancellor Dollfuss patronized, and therefore had been suspected of being an assassin.

Reports of the arming of various groups in France have reached such proportions that it was reported to a commission from the French Chamber of Deputies that Holland and England have refused to send certain art treasures to an exhibit in Paris because both governments feel the treasures would not be safe at this time. The prevalence of the rumors of this widespread arming was brought out in the investigation by the parliamentary commission charged with investigating the riots of February 6. The report of the hearing reflects clearly the general nervousness in France. A hot water heater exploding, as the one did in Laguna Beach the other day, would just about start a panic in Vienna or Paris.

A SYMBOLIC MONUMENT FOR THE NATION'S GREAT

The city of Amsterdam, in Holland, is to erect a massive monument which is to serve as the symbol of honor to all the city's great men. It is not stated whether the names are to be listed on a pedestal, or whether, like the unknown soldier, the monument is to symbolize all those who, in the history of the city, have rendered service to it in the past and will render it service in the future.

There is something inclusive in the latter mentioned idea. With that idea in mind, every man can imagine that the monument does honor to him or to his forbears if he or they have rendered any sort of service to his native city. We can well imagine some proud individual who has presented a book to the public library, or has contributed ever so small a service to elevate, enrich or beautify this city, pointing it out to a stranger, and saying, "a little bit of that is in honor of what I have done for the city."

And why not? This cluttering up a city with individual memorials so often turns out to be a contradiction that we see much to commend in the Amsterdam idea. It relieves men of the necessity of pulling them down, as they did after the American, the French and the Russian revolutions.

Fascist Menace to World Liberties

Riverside Enterprise

Emma Goldman, now lecturing in this country to raise funds for foreign political refugees, and wisely confining her remarks to Europe, holds that the greatest menace to freedom today is fascism. However wrong the fiery Emma may be in some things, she is probably right about this. For fascism, whatever material blessings it may bring in the form of political and economic order, brings with them tyranny.

The fact is seen clearly in Italy, even while the nation appears to take pride in its chains. It is seen more clearly yet in Germany, which is still in the early, violent period of oppression which Americans have half-forgotten in the case of Italy. It appears also in Austria, Hungary, Poland, Spain, Turkey and other countries adopting the Fascist model.

There may be outward success in such regimes, but there is a stifling of the spirit and a crushing of individual initiative which in spite of the glorious forecasts of a Mussolini or a Hitler cannot bode well for the future. The creative powers of a people are only set free in a society that is free politically and economically. Tyrannies destroy themselves.

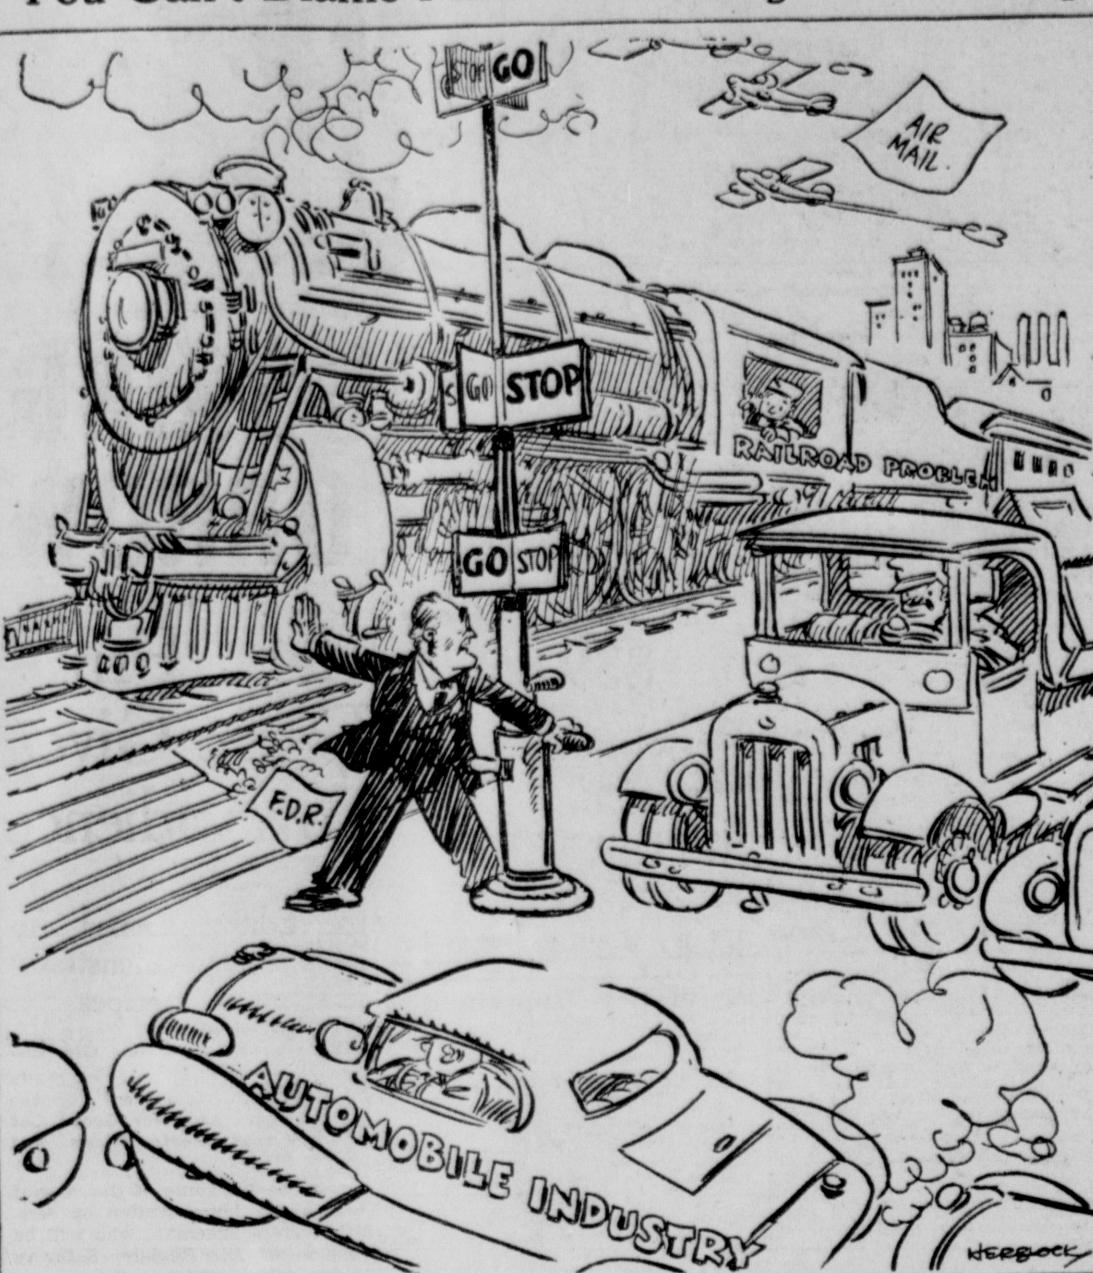

The very name "fascism" is illuminating to anyone who really knows its meaning. It comes from the "fascia," or birth rods, which were bound with an axe and carried before ancient Roman magistrates to show that they had the power of punishment and death. It is a fitting symbol. Thousands of citizens in fascist countries have been beaten and executed since the World war, for the mere offense of differing in opinion from their political masters.

If democracy is really doomed in Europe, all the more reason for preserving it in America. Not only is it the most satisfactory and fruitful way of life; but nations always return to it, for revival and reconstruction, after a spree of tyranny. Americans want no dictatorship, either of capitalism or proletariat.

If we are to take the word of another Soviet leader, Leon Trotsky, the part played by Stalin in the Bolshevik Revolution was far from heroic. Trotsky says that Stalin was one of the white-livered crew which clamored to come to terms with the Kerensky regime, blind to the great destinies that waited for the Bolshevik party just around the corner.

Our dispatches from Russia have noted that with the passing years the pictures of Lenin on ceremonial display grow fewer and smaller and the pictures of Stalin bigger and more common. A great many people today believe that it was the Bolsheviks who overthrew the Czar, forgetting the democratic revolution and Kerensky. So there are no doubt more and more people every day who find themselves thinking that Stalin put Kerensky out of business, forgetting Lenin.

APRIL THIEVES

They're fat and round and furry,
They're crafty, wild and shy,
And always in a hurry
When cats and dogs stroll by.
They'd make delightful dinners
For which I need not pay.
But, though they're hardened sinners
I let them go their way.

Each day they rob my garden
Of seeds I've newly sown,
And never ask my pardon
For making them their own.
Behind the hedge they hover
As quiet as the tomb
Awaiting to discover
Some fresh plowed dining room.

I see their footprints clearly
Upon the fresh new snow,
And always say, severely,
"Those pests must really go!"
But when I hear them patter
Toward some safe hidden hutch,
I murmur, "Well, no matter,
They do not eat so much."

I mean to be more savage,
My temper waxes hot,
I cry, "No more they'll ravage
My tidy garden plot."
But, though I raise a racket
And bid the brutes begone,
I have no will to back it;
The rabbits carry on.

THE CRISIS IN EDUCATION

Never before in the United States and nowhere else in the civilized world has a depression been permitted to scuttle the schools and raid the future of youth.

The panic of 1837 heralded, not the ruin, but the renaissance of the schools. Out of that panic was born a vast forward movement of education. Between 1837 and 1843 outstanding states increased their support of education as much as 34 per cent.

The panic of 1857 left the schools unharmed. The panic of 1873, despite its severity, did not result in any backward step in education. On the contrary, the financial support of the schools was increased, on the average, markedly in excess of 50 per cent in twenty-nine states.

The depression of 1893 did not reduce the support of the schools. The depression of 1907 did not touch the public investment in education.

The depression of 1922 saw no educational retrenchment.

It remained for the depression of 1929 to set going a process of social suicide in which a supposedly enlightened people has stood silently by while a wholesale campaign, compounded of ignorance and insincerity, against the whole enterprise of education swung into action.

To date virtually nobody save the professional educators has gone manfully out to meet this sinister menace to the national future.

Unless something constructive and comprehensively national is done, with promptitude and intelligence, we shall emerge from this depression having lost more than a quarter of a century of educational gains and shall have to trust the national future to a relatively untrained or inadequately disciplined people.

I have just checked over the effect of the present world-wide depression on the schools in England and in France. In neither country has the depression been permitted to strike the blow at education that we have permitted here.

The blind spot of the New Deal has been its relative disregard of the crucial importance of education to the national future.

THE IMPOSSIBLE

Half grown children can reduce their mothers and teachers to the verge of distraction. They are too young to be kept under the close supervision they had to have as babies and runabouts. They are not old enough to be given much leeway in self direction. They keep see-sawing between the two phases of growth and their elders have to go up and down and run about along with them.

Grown people weary of that kind of exercise very quickly. The children are only getting well into their swing when their elders fall gasping by the wayside. Anger as well as fear makes them scold and threaten and punish and finally throw up their hands and cry, "Impossible."

What is one to do with a child who fills his day with adventures that have unhappy endings? The youngster who climbs the light poles and breaks an arm or a collar bone? The one who goes on a visit to Aunt Mollie or to the boy he met last summer without mentioning his plans to the family?

The one who forgets to study his lesson and gets a failure and calmly changes the marks on his record card? The one who is sent on an important errand and who forgets to come back with the result? The plain ordinary heedless young one who drives his people into speechless rage about once a week?

Nothing much can be done with him. About the best we can do is to endeavor with all our might to keep him busy with as wide a margin of safety as possible. Let him to some more mature and reliable sister or brother or chum. Listen to him carefully so as to follow his thoughts and plans and ambitions. You can hear more in the tones of his voice and the movements of his body than you can by his words. Don't lose track of his growth in your efforts to keep him out of trouble.

This troublesome child is a normal human infant. Infant in comparison with the adult stage at which he is to arrive after a lifetime of effort. His antics are the evidences of his mental and physical development. If he didn't perform we would have cause for alarm. As it is we must endure him and hope for the best.

When you, parent or teacher, arrive at the place where the sight of this child tightens your nerves and sharpens your tones so that you angrily shout, "Impossible," just turn your back for an instant and take hold of yourself. You are tired and with reason. You do not really believe that this healthy, boisterous, troublesome child is impossible. The impossibility is in your physical limitations and these must be respected if you are to continue to live and shoulder the responsibilities of your job.

Turn your back on him for an instant. Don't see him. Don't hear him. Then get out of his sphere of influence for an hour, a day or a week, as need be. If you are a teacher send him to some other room for a period. Exchange him for your neighbor's thorn in the flesh. Rest from him a little. If you are a mother tried to the limit, send him away for the day, or go yourself. The fact that you feel this child on your nerves is enough to drive you to take time out. You can be spared. He will be different while you are away. He won't suffer. Go and take a rest.

Here and There

The shark-sucker, or remora, fastens itself to some larger fish and rides about the sea living on the remains of its host's meals.

Esthonia, which is as large as the combined areas of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and half of New Hampshire, contains 1500 lakes.

The sheep population of the world is 600,000,000, or one-fourth as great as the human population.

The gardener bird is found only in New Guinea.
